ADMINISTRATIVE AND GOVERNANCE HANDBOOK

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHANCELLOR

Welcome to the New Academic and Fiscal Year

2019-2020

The San Diego Community College District is one of the largest of California's 73 community college districts. Although each district is the legal entity for funding and employment purposes, the 115 colleges that fall under the oversight of these 73 districts have responsibilities for instruction and services to the 2.4 million students who are enrolled in one or more of California's public community colleges. A multi-college district such as ours requires clear decision-making and accountability structures, both at the District level and at the institutional level. The purpose of this handbook is to acquaint you with these organizational structures and formats.

Everything we do in the San Diego Community College District is derived from our mission:

The mission of the San Diego Community College District is to provide accessible, high-quality, learning experiences, and undergraduate education at an affordable price to meet the educational needs of the San Diego community.

We are proud of the excellence and commitment of everyone who works in our District, whether they are at City College, Mesa College, Miramar College, Continuing Education, or in the District Office, which includes the District Service Center and College Police. As the District carries out various planning and decision-making functions, we do so in a combination of administrative procedures and participatory governance consultation. Both processes are complementary to each other and are presented for your review in this handbook.

We are also proud of our effort to celebrate diversity and ensure that the climate of our District is characterized by respect for others in all ways, especially as defined by academic freedom. We have also established and emphasized measures to prevent any forms of discrimination or unprofessional conduct within the workplace and classrooms of our District. We are fortunate in having a governing board, administrators, faculty, and classified professionals who are committed to this philosophy.

Our administrative and governance channels are available to all as we work together to carry out our mission of service. Because we are a large and complex organization, understanding how our own system works will help all individuals understand how to utilize the system effectively in order to accomplish outcomes.

We are pleased to provide the District's handbook as a guide to the organization and functions of our administration and governance structures and processes. Please take a moment to review it and please use it as a reference and resource during the year. We will continue to update this handbook each year, so your suggestions for improvement are always encouraged.

The Board of Trustees joins me in wishing you all a productive and enjoyable year.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Constance M. Carroll". The signature is fluid and cursive.

Constance M. Carroll, Ph.D.
Chancellor

HISTORY

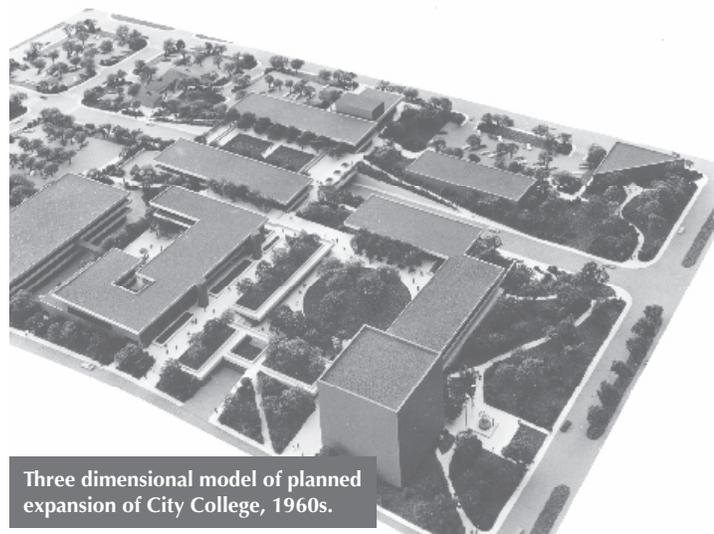

Junior College students march from San Diego High School, original site of the San Diego Community College District, 1918.

San Diego City College, San Diego Mesa College, and San Diego Miramar College are public two-year community colleges administered by the San Diego Community College District. The colleges offer credit programs leading to transfer, employment, and skills improvement. Also under the auspices of the District is the Continuing Education division with seven major campuses throughout San Diego. Through these units, the District carries out the charge made by the voters of San Diego in 1972, that the San Diego Community College District provide education for all high school graduates and adults 18 years of age and older in the service region. This charge includes providing adult basic education through sophomore-level college degree programs, with both academic and vocational curricula. Mesa College also offers a bachelor's degree in Health Information Management.

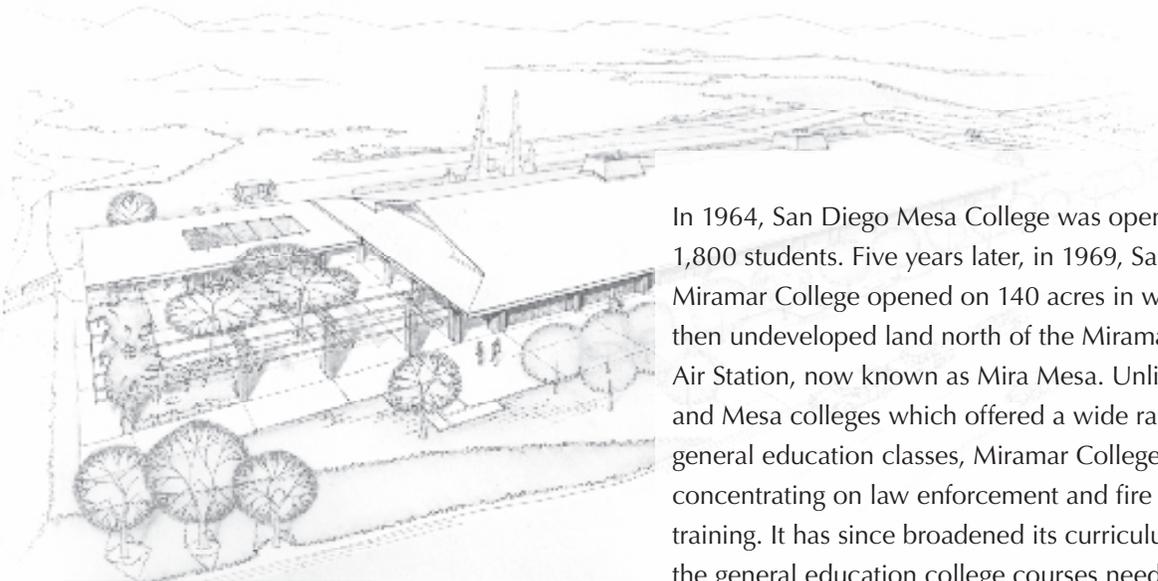

Community college education in San Diego can be traced to 1914 when the Board of Education of the San Diego City Schools authorized postsecondary classes for the youth of San Diego. Classes opened that fall at San Diego High School with four faculty members and 35 students.

City College was first established in 1914 and was located at San Diego High School. For 25 years, the Junior College program was located at San Diego State University. In 1938, the San Diego Vocational Junior College was established to offer training in technical-vocational skills to post high school students. The following year, the San Diego Evening Junior College was set up to provide college classes in the evening for adults who were unable to attend classes during the day.

HISTORY

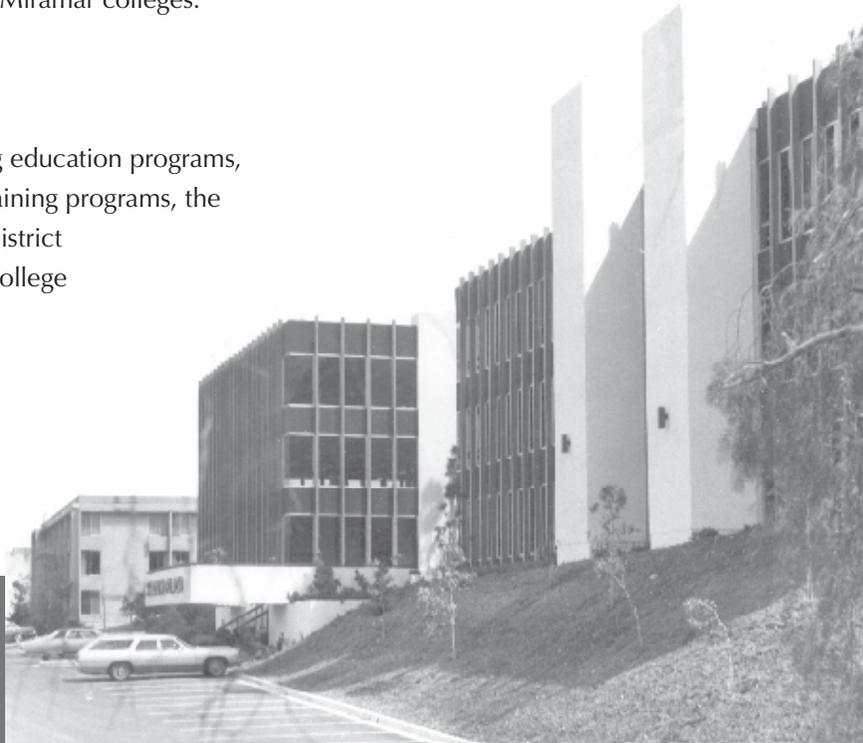

Artist rendering of the Police and Fire Science Building at Miramar College, built 1967.

In 1964, San Diego Mesa College was opened to 1,800 students. Five years later, in 1969, San Diego Miramar College opened on 140 acres in what was then undeveloped land north of the Miramar Naval Air Station, now known as Mira Mesa. Unlike City and Mesa colleges which offered a wide range of general education classes, Miramar College began by concentrating on law enforcement and fire science training. It has since broadened its curriculum to include the general education college courses needed by students in the rapidly growing northern area of the city, as well as new transfer and career-technical programs.

In November 1972, the voters approved separating the San Diego Community College District from the San Diego Unified School District. The first election of community college District Trustees was held in November 1973. The year 1976 brought the opening of a unique District campus, the Educational Cultural Complex, dedicated to offering both college and continuing education classes to the multicultural population surrounding its Ocean View Boulevard site. In 1979-80 the administration of the Evening College program was merged with those of the day college programs at San Diego City, San Diego Mesa, and San Diego Miramar colleges.

With both college and continuing education programs, as well as extensive workforce training programs, the San Diego Community College District is one of the largest community college districts in California and offers a choice of educational programs unparalleled in the region.

The Charles W. Patrick building has housed the San Diego Community College District Administrative Offices since 1973, when staff were relocated from 835 12th Ave., near City College.

Board of Trustees

The San Diego Community College District is governed by a five-member, locally elected Board of Trustees, and a student Board member. The five Trustees are elected in even-numbered years to four-year terms by the voters of San Diego. Trustee candidates first run in district-only elections. The top two vote-getters in each district run citywide in the general election.

Three students serve a one-year term filling the Student Trustee position on a rotating basis.

The Chancellor, the District's Chief Executive Officer, is responsible for carrying out policies approved by the Board of Trustees and for providing overall leadership for the District.

Communicating with the Board

The Trustees are sincerely interested in the views of students, faculty, staff, and citizens on matters affecting community college and continuing education in San Diego. Before bringing concerns to the Board, you are encouraged to discuss the matter with the President or Dean of the college or Continuing Education campus involved, or the appropriate administrator at the District Office.

If your concerns are not resolved at these levels, you may write to the Board of Trustees at: SDCCD, 3375 Camino del Rio South, San Diego, CA 92108-3883. Copies of your letter will be sent to each Board member. You may also write to individual Board members. These letters are not circulated to the entire Board unless requested by the Board member.

Regular meetings of the Board are usually held on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month, beginning at 4 p.m. Special meetings may be called to discuss a limited topic. The Board meeting schedule and current agenda are available on the District website or by contacting the Chancellor/Board Office at (619) 388-6957. An agenda containing a brief description of each item of business is posted at the District Office and on the District's website (sdccd.edu) 72 hours in advance of regular meetings and 24 hours before special meetings.

The development of the Board agenda includes input and review by the participatory governance groups throughout the District.

The general public may comment at public Board meetings on any policy consideration before the Board.

Districtwide Integrated Planning

Integrated planning in the District is aligned with the District mission, vision, and values. The planning process is informed by the District’s four-year strategic plan which establishes the strategic planning goals for the organization. The District strategic plan provides an overarching planning framework for the District. It is developed collaboratively under the leadership of the District Strategic Planning Committee and reflects the planning priorities of the colleges and Continuing Education. The District Strategic Planning Committee is comprised of representatives of the colleges, Continuing Education and district administrative departments. The District strategic plan undergoes extensive review through the District governance councils, which are comprised of representatives from the colleges and Continuing Education, before being approved by the Board of Trustees.

The annual planning cycle is initiated by the Chancellor’s Cabinet under the leadership of the Board of Trustees. The annual planning cycle informs the budget development process and resource allocation districtwide. The process includes ongoing communication and assessment of the governance process, along with the administrative departments, to ensure strong linkages throughout the organization. The assessment process culminates in operational plans and annual goals for each administrative department via the Chancellor’s Cabinet.

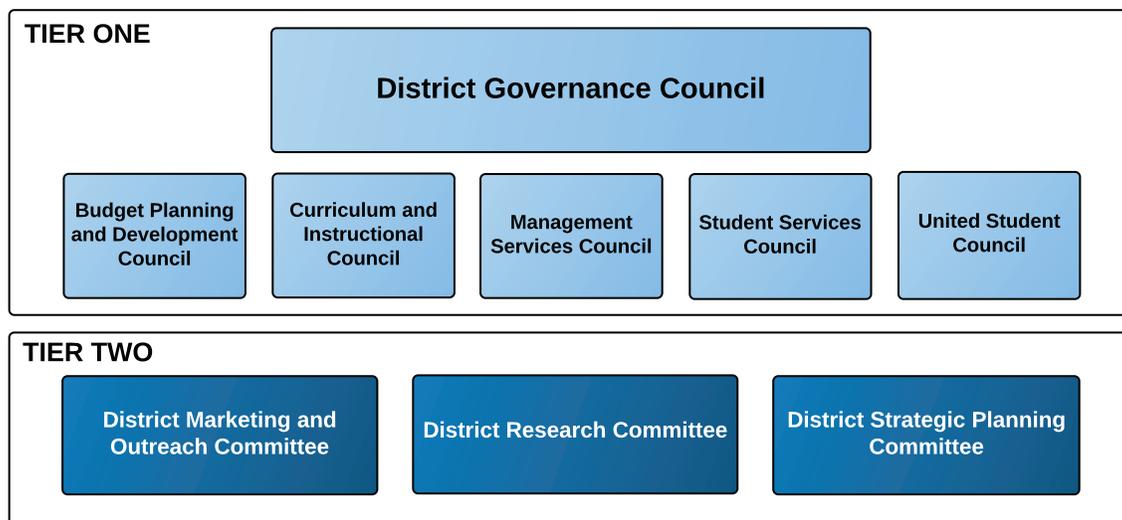

Participatory Governance

The Board of Trustees of the San Diego Community College District is committed to collegial governance. In accordance with Title 5, Sections 51023.7, 51023.5, and 53200-53204, and the mission of the San Diego Community College District: To provide accessible, high-quality, learning experiences, and undergraduate education at an affordable price to meet the diverse educational needs of the community; the District shall adopt policies for the appropriate delegation of authority and responsibility to the Academic Senates, and provide students and staff with an opportunity to participate in the formulation and development of policies and procedures that have or will have a significant effect on students, faculty, and staff.

Board Policy 2510 was adopted with the intent of ensuring that faculty, students, and staff have the right to participate effectively in the governance of the District. The policy also ensures the right of the Academic Senates to assume primary responsibility for making recommendations in the areas of curriculum and academic standards. Board Policy 2510 also does not limit other rights and responsibilities of management and the Board as specifically provided in existing federal and state law and regulations.

Participatory Governance Structure

The participatory governance structure in the District is designed to provide the opportunity for constituent groups to participate in districtwide planning processes. The structure facilitates dialog and input into development and ongoing review of board policies and administrative procedures, as well as operational business processes. To accomplish broad input and dialog, the District has a two tier participatory governance structure comprised of councils, committees, and task forces that have been constructed to formalize these processes.

Note: Ad hoc groups are periodically convened for a specific task or issue until resolved.

PARTICIPATORY GOVERNANCE

The first tier of the districtwide participatory governance structure consists of six Governance Councils. The primary Governance Council is the District Governance Council chaired by the Chancellor, and comprised of the chairs of all the other Governance Councils and committees. The Governance Councils are comprised of representatives from each institution, as well as various constituent groups and meet on a regular basis. The Councils are chaired by one of the Vice Chancellors or the Chancellor.

The six Governance Councils include:

- District Governance Council
- Budget Planning and Development Council
- Curriculum and Instructional Council
- Management Services Council
- Student Services Council
- United Student Council

The second tier of the districtwide participatory governance structure consists of three Governance Committees. The Governance Committees are either chaired by a Cabinet member or report to a Cabinet member. The role of the committees is more narrowly focus on matters pertaining to a designated subject. The Governance Committees serve in an advisory role.

The three Governance Committees include:

- District Marketing and Outreach Committee
- District Research Committee
- District Strategic Planning Committee

In addition to committees, Task Forces are convened on an ad hoc basis to address specific districtwide issues until resolved.

Following is a description of the councils, committees, and task forces:

Governance Council: Representative body of individuals with expertise in a related area, delegated to deliberate and make decisions as well as policy recommendations to the Chancellor's Cabinet.

Governance Committee: Convened to deliberate, research, coordinate and/or perform a specific function or make recommendations on matters related to a specific area. Committees are organized to be subordinate to the Governance Councils who are the primary governance bodies.

Task Force: Ad hoc groups periodically convened for a specific task or issue until resolved.
