

VEBA Member Alert: COVID-19 / UHC Partnered with Harvard University

UnitedHealthCare (UHC) have partnered with Harvard University to study and better understand certain characteristics, and the prevalence and progression of the coronavirus in communities across the nation.

Researchers are contacting a random selection of UHC members to see if they are willing to participate in the study.

Members may have received inquiries since the calls have already begun. Please note the phone calls are legitimate and serve a good purpose.
