DEFINITION

Under the direction of the Vice Chancellor, perform a wide variety of difficult and complex administrative and secretarial/clerical tasks and provide direction to staff and management on issues not requiring the immediate attention of the Vice Chancellor; deal with and resolve the less complex issues and routine administrative duties. Perform independently in managing and coordinating the office functions in a centralized department to ensure accurate and timely completion of tasks. Coordinate high-level department projects. Supervise the work of assigned staff within the department and assure efficient and effective office operations.

DISTINGUISHING CHARACTERISTICS

The class of Administrative Assistant reports to a District Vice Chancellor. This class requires a substantial amount of tact, independence, judgment, and initiative. Authority to make commitments and take responsibility for such decisions as well as delegation of the more standard administrative duties characterize this level of administrative support staff. Incumbents provide administrative support and direction to management and staff within the assigned department and relieve the Vice Chancellor of routine administrative details. The duties and responsibilities are somewhat similar to that of an Executive Assistant to the President/Executive Vice Chancellor, encompassing difficult, complex, and confidential secretarial and administrative functions and support of projects and operations of the administrator. The class of Executive Assistant to the President/Executive Vice Chancellor reports to a College President or an Executive Vice Chancellor. The class of Senior Office Manager has duties and responsibilities very similar to Administrative Assistant except there are less secretarial duties and much more staff supervision and office management. Incumbents in the Senior Office Manager class provide office coordination and supervision of daily operations and services.

EXAMPLE OF DUTIES

1. Schedule, organize, oversee, coordinate, and manage the day-to-day activities and operations of a large complex centralized office. Perform a wide variety of difficult and complex administrative, secretarial/clerical, and operational duties requiring careful coordination and direction.
